Vaccination for Haj and Umrah

Meningococcal ACWY Vaccine (Required for Haj and Umrah)

Meningococcal vaccination is required for Haj and Umrah pilgrims and is also recommended prior to your travel to endemic areas. The vaccination protects against ACWY strains and only 1 dose is required.

Influenza Vaccine (Optional for Haj and Umrah)

Influenza is a contagious disease caused by the influenza virus, spread by coughing, sneezing or nasal secretions.

The influenza vaccine protects against influenza. There are many different types of influenza viruses, and the circulating strains change constantly; hence an annual vaccination is recommended. Only 1 dose is required and it takes 2 weeks for protection to develop after vaccination. Children who have not been vaccinated previously against influenza will require 2 doses with the interval of 4 weeks.

The influenza vaccine is recommended for the elderly, frequent travellers and patients with diabetes, chronic heart disease or respiratory ailments.

Pneumococcal Vaccine (Optional for Haj and Umrah)

Pneumococcal infection is a bacterial infection that is spread by coughing, sneezing and contact with nasal fluids. Signs of infection include high fever, cough, and shortness of breath. If the brain is infected, there may be headaches and confusion.

Pneumococcal vaccination is recommended for all persons with chronic illnesses such as asthma, diabetes, heart and pulmonary diseases and for elderly people above 65 years of age.
